

LSL Life – Kamen

The Opportunity to Choose:

Kamen's parents let him explore new sports and activities.

Dad: And right, and what do we do next?

Kamen: Now we swing.

Dad: Alright.

Mom: Like a monkey.

Kamen: Just like a monkey.

Mom: I would say Kamen is curious.

Mom: He is active kid.

Mom: I think he likes to do new things and try something he hasn't tried yet.

Mom: Listening and Spoken Language has been tremendous help to allow Kamen to go to different sports and be part of a regular class, regular team.

Mom: Our goal is to give him opportunity to try all the different things he would like to try.

Mom: Kamen currently is involved with gymnastics.

Mom: He will start swimming lessons this week.

Mom: He did tennis lessons and he liked that a lot.

Mom: He loves to ice skate and I hope he will continue to ice skate.

Dad: The best thing we can do for him is to give him the opportunity to choose and allow him to discover on his own what is exciting for him, what he can excel at.

Dad: I'd love to give him choices and not limit that choice because of a diagnosis.
